Gentlemen:

As I am leaving the Executive position at this Council, you should be aware of the enclosed material.

The person involved has not been involved in Scouting since the incident and has indeed kept a very low profile. The child involved was not a scout but a friend of the daughter.

Sincerely,

Harley E. Burger, Sr.

A Warning to All Parents ! !

Although child molesting is a very delicate subject, I think it should be talked about more often. Perhaps if we had talked more openly our child would not have been molested. Don't let your child be next. Ask yourself these questions. We tell our children to be careful of strangers, but how many of us warn them about friends and relatives? We didn't! Are you sure when your daughter spends the night with a girl friend, your son goes on his scout overnight camp, or you drop them off at the baby sitters: with teenagers, that they're safe from the hands of molesters? If it did happen to your child, could they come to you for help? Can you imagine your child trapped in such a situation? Do you have a friend or relative who is to good to be true.

we did! If your child were caught chances are they'd be unable to refuse, just because children consider all adults an authoritative figure and are scared to say no. They have a hard time telling because they are made to feel guilty. We were lucky, our child came to us for help. We're proud of her courage.

If our tragedy had to happen, thats sad enough, please don't let it happen to another child. Ask yourself these questions, and protect your children.

A Loving Parent
